Black Friday Blues

So I suppose Black Friday is now Black Thursday and soon to be Black Wednesday –

Tuesday, you get my point. Can retailers and their marketing arms give us a break? Can't they give us 24 hours without door buster sales and the 3:00 am specials? I get it a good chunk of a retailer's revenue is generated around the holidays but when is it enough? What does it say about our society when we can't take a little time to reflect and give thanks and perhaps give back to those who are less fortunate. I hope in years to come we don't ever get to Black November.

Congress is at it again with the draft tax reform legislation. The bill would only allow 50% of advertising expenses to be deducted in the current year, with the remaining 50% amortized over 5 years. This is a serious threat to our industry and AAF-Cleveland is working with national AAF and other clubs throughout Ohio to keep our members informed and to let our congressman know how we feel about this proposal. Get involved and let your elected officials know that this is critical to our industry. You can find more information and a sample letter here.

Don't miss the ADDYs. You can enter through January 3, 2014, show us what you've got.

It's Never Over Till It's Over

Watching the conclusion of the Auburn-Alabama football game brings to mind a very important business lesson: It's Never Over Till It's Over.

Alabama effectively lost the National Championship because their field goal team failed to cover a kick. They forgot that a long field goal is the same as a punt and needs to be covered as such. It's hard to comprehend that a team as successful as Alabama has been over the past few years didn't know this and hasn't practiced this.

Apparently they thought that once the kick was away, their jobs were done. Not so. There was one smart, aggressive player from Auburn who realized this and took advantage of it and Auburn was the better for it.

The same is true in business. Despite the best of intentions and all the promises in the world, it's never over until it's over. Not until the check is cashed and safely deposited in the bank. Then, it's time to relax.

ADDY ENTRIES – NOW ACCEPTED

Our new entry system is live and able to accept your entries. Please note the following important information and changes:

NEW FOR THIS YEAR:

1) BROADCAST UPLOADS
All television spots, radio commercials and videos must be uploaded when you complete the entry information. No DVDs or CDs will be accepted. You will NOT be required to upload artwork for any other category although it is recommended.

2) You can now duplicate entries.

3) You can, but do not have to, enter credits at this point.

4) Digital entries require a working URL to be judged.

REMEMBER: All broadcast entries that have been uploaded will still need to have an entry form for each entry submitted in an envelope.

Non-broadcast and non-digital categories still require hard copies of the work for judging. Deadline to enter is January 3, 2014 Enter here
